The 12 Universal Lineages

The 12 universal or racial lineages of the full cosmos we are part of bridge into, or are run by, the central sun where the principles and laws that govern the 12 universes and their realities, are positioned. As we learned in Modern History – here updated and expanded:

The Setup of Our Reality

The original set up of our solar system (stellar level since our sun is a star) is built from a core with rays, called the central sun. Each ray denotes a type of consciousness and the energetic-organic genetics that can unfold from that giving the directions, the intentions and the purposes of that ray. A ray is also called a law or a principle.

Each law or principle governs the energies of a reality and the progression we can achieve in that reality or world. Progression is to build completed and developed consciousness units into our dyadic structure.

We develop our dyad by transforming the energies of the realities we take part of following the principles expressed in actions and creations. From that we develop the consciousness potentials into completed consciousness units in the dyad, and from that we are able to express ourselves into higher and more advanced lifeforms.

This means that if we complete the transformation of energy and consciousness in that world, under the laws or rays of that reality, we complete an evolutionary cycle. So, to master each reality and its laws – because there are often more than one principle governing that reality – we have to complete the cycle by understanding, expressing and living the full capacity of these principles in the reality we are part of to develop our consciousness potentials, called consciousness genetics. The reality and its principles are the energies and laws we are to master to develop our full consciousness potentials.

The human races here under the different projects would unfold, in their individual pockets of our reality, their type of consciousness using the different energetic features unfolded from the central sun.

The realities in our solar system hold different forms of energy ranging from terrestrial (3 to 4 world setup) to the systemic (stellar or 5-8 worlds) and up to the schematic (galactic or 9-12 worlds), creating a manifold of reality fields to master. All the levels are encompassed into a universe (cosmic level).

The central sun with its rays is an advanced type of holographic-conscious construction. It is composed of code streams of coded energy (rays) and holds all the possibilities and the principles of all evolutions that can be unfolded in our scheme. The rays were coded into the central sun by the cosmic races, which had developed past the 12 cycles of full human evolution and their 12 races and realities.

These cosmic races are called the Ancient Ones. They are not gods or creators, in the sense we have been induced with in our world, but simply very large, completed consciousness entities, which have left the schematic evolutions of triads.¹ These races have now gone into the evolutions of the dyads, consisting of nothing more than consciousness and energy developing the combinations of these as consciousness altering energy into new triadic schemes, expressing their consciousness as the principles of all that has gone before and all that will come.

There is therefore no creational beginning and no end. There is only continuous evolution that builds on the evolutions of the ones that went before us. There are fields of energy and clusters of consciousness that change and develop as the fields and the clusters merge and interfere with each other. Perhaps there once were a soup of pure energy and pure genetics and if so, nobody knows where this came from.

The Ancient Ones would tell the first races of their reality fields, that these fields and clusters were remnants of even older full human civilizations from adjacent universes beyond our understanding and that consciousness and energy as the two main principles of all there is, are eternal and infinite.

Thus, there is no point in trying to find the origin or the creator of this because as you search within yourself, and your consciousness genetics for this answer, you are only brought through the layers of the full human races that came before you and are now part of your reality field, emplaced into the grids of the worlds, you are taking part of. When we begin talking about the origin of our world and our universe, we face the same issues. The point of origin, its purpose and why we are here all depends on the racial lineage, you as a triad belongs to.

In our universe, the main triadic evolutions aka cycles² were what we call full humans. I use that terminology to differ from the lesser type of human we unfold in our world today. In our universe, most of the ancient human races and civilizations ended their path of progression and moved on into dyadic universes, unfolding their spherical dyadic structure of consciousness and energy in new settings of bright light (high potential consciousness) and no resistance (high potential energy). They left behind the central sun construction, the different developmental projects, the grids and the advanced technologies, they had used to develop their triadic structures and worlds.

The Original Races

Terrestrial human races work with the core principles in the 3rd to 4th cycles unfolding their consciousness, aka consciousness genetics³ from their dyad into energy settings in the realities developing in these cycles, using triadic holographic-organic forms to generate pockets or worlds.

Systemic human races work with the systemic principles in the 5th to 8th cycles unfolding their consciousness units from their dyad into energy settings in these realities, using triadic holographic-organic forms to generate worlds.

Schematic human races work with the reality field principles in the 9th to 12th cycles unfolding their consciousness units from their dyad into energy settings in these realities, using triadic holographic-organic forms to generate worlds.

Completed or full human races work with the universal principles or the central sun itself, unfolding its hidden energies in the 12th to infinite lesser cycles, altering the triadic template in full to become a sphere of principles, high potential consciousness and high potential energy.

The ancient worlds were left behind and as such our solar system had played out its role. The worlds, the technology and the pockets were left behind and the genetic remnants of the first full human races were left behind in the grids, keeping the racial memories of these races intact, hidden in the holographic-organic programs running the different worlds. This solar system became what is known as a genetic library. Now, it is common for universes, solar systems and schemes to be left behind like this, and in the first run throughs of all universes, these genetic libraries are respected and honored as part of our past. The full human races that descend, i.e. future human, which originated from the old systems, code travel back to them, using the code streams of consciousness.

This method is based upon focused consciousness stemming from the racial genetics, we have in our future triadic holographic organic forms and from that use technology to look “back in time” and link up to the genetics in the grids, and the former field versions of us, and from that explore and review the ancient pasts as part of these, but only in energetic-holographic forms. There are strict rules not to travel back in time to revive or interfere with these ancient universes since the evolutions, and their races, in many ways are connected to them via the genetic link up in the grids and remaining fields in the pockets, holding the imprints of the ancient races.

Thus, out of respect and not to mess with the dyads in their new settings, these ancient worlds are left to exist as long as the dyads want them to exist. At some point the dyads “look back” and from that dissolve these systems and worlds, when they are ready to move into the highest state evolutions. Then these ancient systems and their worlds dissolve and are re-cycled (transmuted) into new energy units in other schemes.

Now, there are also rules amongst universes and what type of evolution that unfolds there. This sector, including our universe, is what is called ancient racial lineages going back to the Ancient Ones but there are other human races out there, which are further back in their evolutions, the so-called 3rd cycle, where the spatial properties of space and forms are developed, as well as the 4th cycles, where the triadic forms turn into manifest forms.

As I write in The Secret Blog

Our Solar System was developed by the Ancient Races that created our system as part of their newly engineered universe.

Now, there are many universes, of which ours is one. In terms of understanding how to manage and develop our reality field, we have to understand what our solar system is and how it is engineered. How to master the energies here, and the consciousness, we can develop from that.

I have written about our Universe in my books, such as the Souls of Humanity as well as in Modern History, and for the full understanding and insight, I can only urge you to read these books.

Thus, here I will give a short account for our understanding to that we can work with the new type of humans, we are to become. And I have added my new level of information to my earlier work.

In the distant universes in the proximity to our universe, the Ancient Human Races had completed their evolutionary cycles and were ready to move onto the next level of evolution; i.e. beyond the physical manifestations, using energy and consciousness to do so.

In all forms of evolution, when one race is ready to move on, a giving over has to be made. A giving over is when a human or humanoid leaves a reality field, and to be able to release and move on, the gathered energy of that human or humanoid, including the technology and information going with that, have to be given to the ones that have chosen to remain and continue to work in that reality field.

It is like in a job situation, if you quit, you have to give over to the one that takes over your job.

The Ancient Human Races had to do the same, and our universe and solar system became the point where the given over of energy, technology and information could take place, so they could move on.

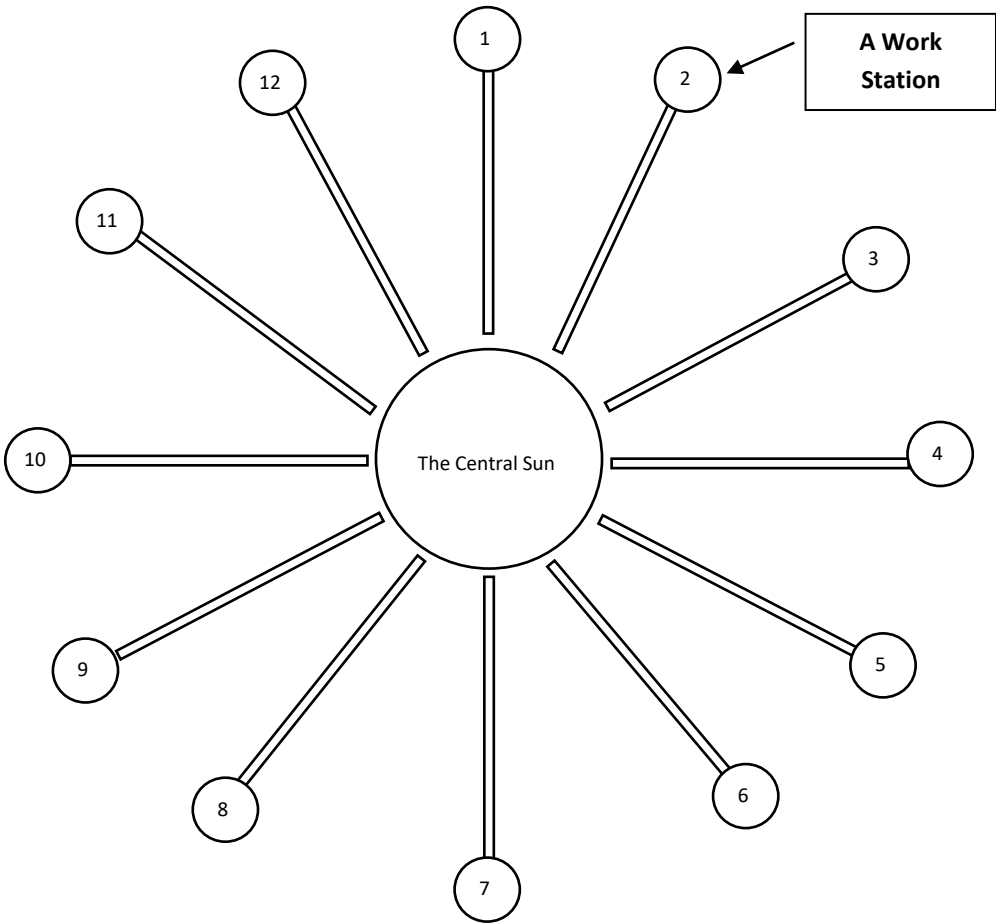

Now, these races had completed their evolutionary cycles in full, so the given over was not a small thing. It had to be on a grand scale, and it was not just one race but several that were ready to move on. Consequently, they went together and created what is called the Workstations.

The workstations, of which there are 12, are what generate and extend from the central sun, i.e. the core of our reality that sets up the principles and their rays from which all energy, technology and information are administered. However, only few of the workstations of the humanoid races are in operation today, creating the 5 timelines our current humanity, which are part of the humanoid races, need to complete for the completion of their evolutionary cycles in our solar system.

The other workstations, timelines and human races, completed in the first run through of our solar system before it fell under the hands of the regressed races during Atlantis some 50.000 years ago as the lesser developed humans of the first run through in the 6th cycle decided to reverse and alter all history of the remaining 5 timelines and their human projects.

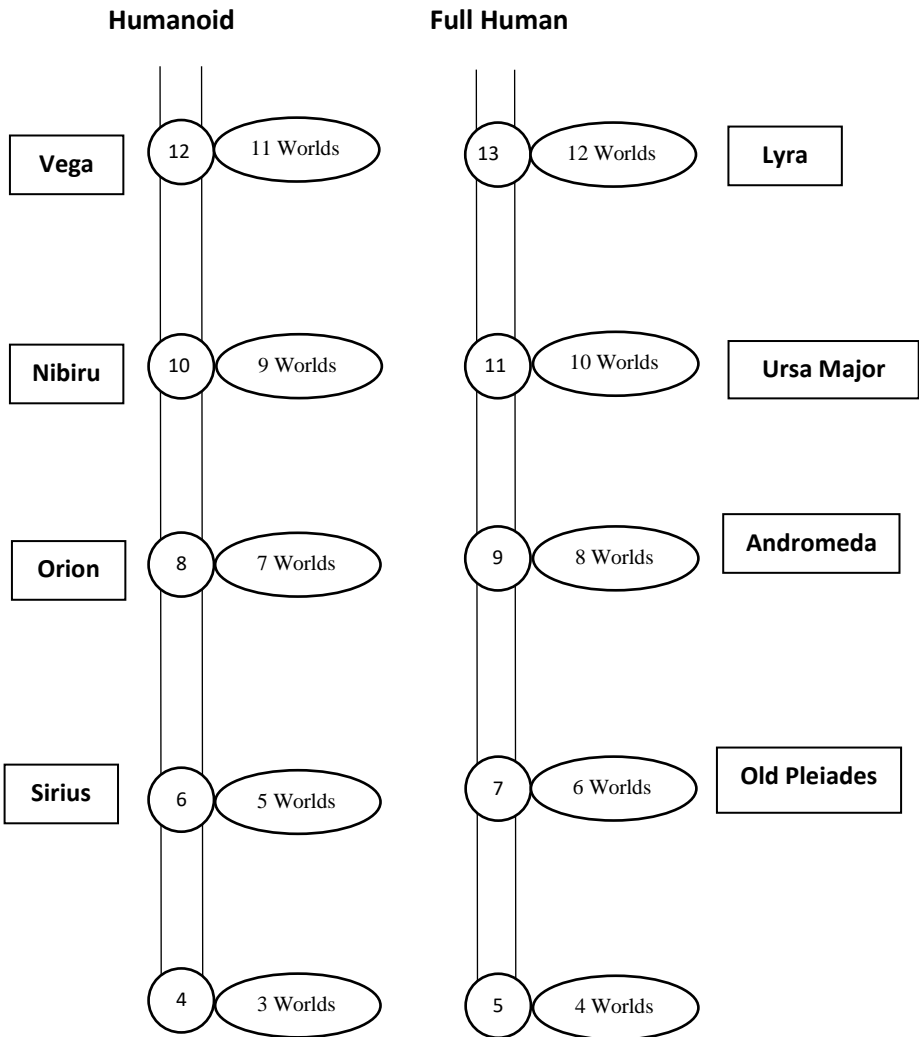

The Central Sun

The 12 Universal Lineages is governed by the 12 rays of the central sun, setting the principles of energy and consciousness of the 12 racial lineages in their worlds and workstations.

The Two Main Universal Lineages

The 2 universal consciousness lineages of humanoid and full human races are controlled from the workstations in the core and the worlds, which extend from the workstations. Here only shown one petal.

The Workstations

Below is shown one workstation, operating to develop the full human consciousness in the 7th dimension with its 6 worlds expressing the energies of that world aka densities, range from 6th to the 7th density aka reality fields unfolding the human evolutionary cycles from the 6th to the 7th.

Below is shown a workstation, operating to develop the humanoid consciousness structure from the 6th dimension with its 5 worlds utilizing the 5th to the 6th densities in worlds aka reality fields unfolding the evolutionary cycles of the 5th to the 6th cycle.

The Set Up of the Workstations

What is a Workstation?

A workstation is a core operating center with a number of worlds, reality fields, attached to it. The best image I can offer is to for you to envision a huge laboratory but naturally with highly advanced technology and highly advanced humans working there.

A workstation is a reality field on its own, and it is the core operational center of the human developmental projects in the adjacent worlds that are administered by that higher dimensional race. The workstation is not just a space station with labs, technology and so forth, it is also the core facility of that dimension and in the 5th dimension where the workstation is, if we take that as an example, the workstation is part of a 5th dimensional reality too, as in when you leave the workstation, you walk into a 5th dimensional world of 5th dimensional humans living in cities etc.

The Basic 4 Worlds of Full Human Universal Strands

The human developmental projects of the basic 4 worlds are under the 5th dimensional races of the stellar constellations of Polaris. These four worlds and their humans go back to the Houses of Lyra, where the 12 worlds were divided between 12 full human lineages, of which the Houses of the Lion, the Bear, the Eagle and Virgo where the four main ones that replicated their genetic structures into the human developmental projects in the 4th dimension of the human projects utilizing the energies of the 4th density into four cycles of evolution, i.e. the 4th evolutionary cycle.

The 4th evolutionary cycle human projects were administered from the workstation in the 5th dimension operated by the human racers in the other workstations, which had competed the 4th cycle and had entered the 5th cycle, operating that workstation and overseeing these human projects.

Earth People

Solar-fire People

Water People

Air People

The full human basic human developmental projects begin with the 4th worlders aka the earth people, the sea people, the air people and the fire people. These are now part of what is called the hidden people of “inner earth” aka the original 5th dimension of our reality field.

The Basic 3 Worlds of Universal Humanoid Strands

In contrast, the lowest level of the universal humanoid strand is the 3rd density worlds, with the core operational center in the 4th dimension unfolding the reptilian, insectoid and android lifeforms. The three worlds were originally part of the Maldakian worlds and their ancient human projects in the 3rd cycle including the infusion of the humans from the Lunar scheme. All these human projects failed. Their 4th dimension is different from the 4th dimension of the full humans because of the variances in the consciousness units, aka consciousness genetics between these two universal strands.

Now, the humanoid races used to be human too, but regressed into humanoid (insectoid, avian, reptoid, mammal) lifeforms due to genetic experiments.⁴

The basic 3 humanoid worlds with the 4th dimensional work station
under the Joint 3 Stellar or Systemic Humanoid Races

Due to the implementation of the inverted tower into our world by the regressed races of the humanoid universal lineages, the 4th and 5th dimensions of their worlds and workstations are the first dimensions we connect to when we activate our template or genetic energy system, because of changes in our original template, which now holds a lot of humanoid genetics. This is due to different developmental projects we participated in to assist the humanoids to clear out their distortions, or as attempts to clear out the malevolent genome called the Leviathan genome as well as the infection that arose in the Orion workstations, pulling in old spatial energies from the 3rd cycle into the higher dimensions.⁵ In our attempt to assist the humanoid races many of the original full human projects participated and to be able to enter the humanoid universal strand, we inserted their genetics in a for the occasion engineered template. A template that is not natural to some of the old full human races.

Naturally, there are the templates in humans today that stem from the military projects of the humanoid universal strand under the Zetas and Nazis as well as the templates and bio-DNA engineering that goes with the hybrids aka the enhanced humans as well as the advanced humans. So, a lot has been mixed up and our work is naturally to clear out these insertions, technologies etc. that keep us stuck in the humanoid universal tower, if we are full humans or to clear out the genetics of the lower 3rd world set up, if we have a humanoid template or we are a military project. Only if the lower 3rd world genetics are cleared out, are we free of the regressed reptilian, android and insectoid races that controls the lowest densities of the humanoid universal strand.

The 6 human worlds, with the 7th dimensional workstation, were overseen by the old original Pleiadian races. Most of the original Pleiadian races are now extinct due to the Orion-Pleiadian wars, taking out these races and enslaving them in the Orion system or as part of their humanoid projects. So, that workstation needs to be restored.

⁵ I write about the timeline event in the Souls of Humanity and in Modern History. You can also read about different aspects of this story in the free material I have in my blogs as well as look into the first video in HAL Talks with Randi Green.

The old Pleiadian workstation operated to develop the full human consciousness in the 7th dimension with its 6 worlds expressing the stellar systemic energies, ranging from 6th to the 7th density aka reality fields unfolding the human evolutionary cycles from the 6th to the 7th.

Below the workstation, operating to develop the Sirian humanoid consciousness structure from the 6th dimension with its 5 worlds utilizing the 5th to the 6th densities in these reality fields unfolding the evolutionary cycles of the 5th to the 6th cycle.

The 5 humanoid worlds with the 6th dimensional workstation under the Stellar or Systemic humanoid races of the Sirius system. Most are now infected or regressed, and an attempt was made to restore these lineages in the Atlantean project under the Cross to get rid of the Orion infection.⁶

⁶ I explain these projects in my book Modern History.

Original Sirian Work
Station and their 5 worlds

Today the Sirian workstation has been restored using the old human projects to do so under the full humans in Atlantis and other similar projects in Egypt (first under the full humans in benevolent projects; then later taken over by the Orions enslaving the humans) and in the military projects of our time.

This means that we now have new 5th density races that are human-humanoid. They are the enhanced and advanced humans as well as the higher versions of the reptilian-humans, insectoid-humans and android-humans.

These are the ones we will face, once we have cleared and restored the distortions in our human emotional and mental fields, and activated our template after the clearing of this, removing all forms of enslavement and blocking technology, energetic parasites etc.

The Restored 6th Sirian work station with its 5th density human-humanoid races etc.

A Full Human

A full human is an old expression developed by the Ancient Races that created our system as part of their newly engineered universe.

Now, there are many universes, of which ours is one. In our understanding of what a full human is, we also have to understand what our solar system is and how it is engineered. Click here to read the post explaining this.

To say it in short sentences what a full human is:

- A human from our solar system that has completed all the evolutionary cycles here (some completed in the first run through).

- A human from an adjacent system having taken some of the cycles there and come here to complete the rest of the cycles with what our solar system offers.
- A humanoid from a parallel universe having completed most cycles there and come here to become a complete human, since the humanoids carry a different type of genetics which can be altered into human here.
- A human from any system that has mastered the 12 rays of our system and completed all timelines in one or many cycles.

Thus, a full human is in essence a completed human mastering all forms of energy and consciousness, having taken different "degrees" using the 12 rays, the timelines and the evolutionary cycles in all reality fields in our system to complete his or her progression journey to be able to transfer, by will and choice, to other universes or, to higher density parallel reality fields beyond the manifestation planes of existence going into pure consciousness and energy realities (these are not the plasma or light body realities, since they per definition are higher forms of manifestation or organic matter forms).

An illustration of the Fields, or layers, a Full Human is composed of

The Fivefold Holographic-Organic Energy System

Your fivefold holographic-organic energy system stretches beyond your physical body. The original fivefold energy system once was composed of the dyad, the consciousness layer, the energetic layer, the template layer and the holographic-organic field with its heart and brain fields. Today our energy system has been downgraded into the lower fields composed of the distorted mental field, emotional field and the bio-molecular electromagnetic field; all generating the physical body with its mental and emotional processes. The goal is to transform these to their original version and in that regain the access to our highest potentials, and with that the ability to do the progression work to realign with the highest energetic standards, the highest principles and the highest progression rate of the original humanities of this reality field.

The chosen lifestyle and energy work should honor the higher consciousness-genetic composition in the template, to avoid creating further distortion energies in the lower fields, which means that the consciousness and energy genetic lineage and heritage should be known and from that understanding adapt the energy work and expressed lifestyle according to the composition to outlive the potentials of the consciousness-genetic in the template into physical form and its three fields to clear these of their distortions. Or, if needed to delete and erase the template consciousness-genetic to allow for a fuller functional bio-DNA structure, using the resurfacing – via the clearing work - original human consciousness-genetic to build up a new holographic template. The work with the template is a matter of taking back your responsibility for creating and honoring life in this solar system and allow your template to be able to unfold potential life, energy and consciousness in the correct progression cycle as manifest or expressed life. We are to go for the highest progression rate (consciousness integration via the brain field), the highest principles (correct interaction potentials with our system via the sensing level aka the heart field) and the highest energetic standards (expressed manifest form from the other two – energy and consciousness – creating our physical form), our system offers.

The progression cycle of life goes from potential life, to expressed life, using energy and consciousness to do so in a moving forward progression, leading to higher potential expressed life of consciousness and energy. That is the outgoing spiral, generating more life, energy and consciousness as the potential life is pulled into our physical form by the different forms of energy we use (developmental programs in our system interpreted as perception of our reality inner and outer), and the consciousness that is developed from that use into our brain expanding its perception sphere into higher ordered systems, ranging from personal, to others, to societal, to systemic, to universal and so forth.

Thus, as taught in the HAL Basics the goal is to get rid of.....

- 1) All prohibitors i.e. energy web, snakes and parasites in the heart field and organ area bringing the energy production down. These mainly originates from wrongful use of emotions as well as wrong diet, including attached technology in the template.
- 2) All limited belief systems and emotional settings, causing restriction in perception and thus lowers the correct forms of energies in the heart and brain fields.
- 3) But most important: Go for the activation of your original energy system that leads to the highest progression, highest principles and the highest energetic standards of the full human template. These will push out all the other stuff.

Sitting at the Feet of Miriam

“How is it to do the progression work with a man remembering all your incarnations together,” I asked Miriam one of the days I was sitting at her feet, being taught her wisdom.

“Being in a joint relationship of knowledge, understanding and full perspective of who we are and what we can become has its challenges. Not as you might understand it from your current perspective, since that is limited, but from a full human perspective as part of the grand progression of the male and female consciousness.

The challenges are all about the correct use of energy adjusted to our different approaches of how to develop our universal strand and the races this bridges into, in the different worlds. How are we to use the energy in that situation, and how are we to respond to the situation itself, as it presents itself to us.

The joining of our energy and consciousness, as a progression couple, will lead to the answer. It is not a matter of his or my perspective but about the collection of energies that situation represents. All situations in life represent an energetic enigma, a mystery if you like, of progression possibilities and options, which lead to the highest progression rate and responsibility of expressing life and the laws of life, aka the core principles of our united 12 universal strands of races. The wisdom within guides you in this.

The core of our being is the way. That core unfolds the principles of the central sun into a developmental path, shone into the worlds you are part of, and reflected in what is mirrored back to you to work with to master the energy and consciousness of that world. We, as a couple, use that to reflect the highest progression rate in the situation by presenting the opposites in it, the possibilities in it, the results of it and the new prospects or timelines it will create for the situation. Our joint consciousness and energies show this to us so that we will know the next step to take. The sum of energy and everything we are, will be reflected into the past, present and future of our core energy and consciousness.”

I was trying to grasp what she said. In many ways, I did not understand but I understood the energy of it because I felt it in my heart field and as she spoke my mind bent to it in new ways. I understood that I had to redefine what a relationship between males and females was between two forms of higher consciousness.

“Miriam, what is the female consciousness. How is it expressed?” I wanted to know.

“The highest form of female consciousness goes with the understanding of unity. Of no division in yourself and in others. It is the understanding that you energetically stand together and connect, and there is only unity and oneness. We work for the highest good of the many. Not of the individual. Through the female consciousness, oneness of life and the good of the many can flow in from the higher levels of your being. From the dyad. Female consciousness allows for the dyad to come back in. That is why it is called wisdom and unity because when you stand in the light of the female consciousness, you stand in unity with your dyad, yourself, others and the worlds, you have been part of. The female consciousness represents the purest and highest form of energy into which consciousness can unfold in unity. It undoes division and separation.”

“And what about the male consciousness,” was my next question.

“The male consciousness works in different ways. It generates the powers that set things in motion. It pushes things to movement and, you could say, separation but not in a bad way. That came later.

The male consciousness needs room to move, room to spread into worlds and universes, or spaces, whereas the female consciousness leads to unity and the details, which are needed to generate timelines, grids and lifeforms in that space as well as balancing the effects of what is seeded by the male consciousness. The understanding of the details is the wisdom of the female consciousness.

The male equivalent to wisdom is knowledge. Diversity, expansion and knowledge. Knowledge of progression and movement. The true relationship between a male and a female human should therefore be the dynamics between these two forces of consciousness, expressing two different ways of using the energies of our system. Our work here is to reunite the two oppositions to create balance between the forces, which we now refer to as the pillars in all of their different forms.”

“So, are we to unite the male and female inside of ourselves?” I asked.

“No, that would be the wrong understanding of why a man and a woman pair up to progress in this system. The function of a progression couple is not to become two mirrors of the same forces or powers but to supplement and accompany the other form of energy shown in the male or the female. This means that the female must rest entirely in her wisdom and unity, and he must rest entirely in his diversity and movement. None of them must be distorted in the joint work. The female must stand unified in her wisdom, and he must stand diverse in his movement. It rests on choices of how to use and express energy to embed the dyadic forces into our bodies. We cannot mix up. Only in the 6th density can we begin to unify ourselves as an entire being. Until then, we are the energy of our gender, learning to express that as a pure, highest potential dyadic energy, expressed into form.”

Sitting at the Feet of Joshua

“How is it to live with a woman remembering all your incarnations together,” I asked Joshua one of the days I was sitting at his feet, being taught his knowledge.

“Being with a woman like Miriam is a challenge for me because I have never really joint up like this before. This is the first time we play out that connection between two forms of races and types of consciousness. Her dyad is older than mine and I have barely let go of the 4th cycle before we began this mission here. She is older and has done more in her system but again, not in the ways we play out our progression here.”

“What is the male consciousness,” I asked to get his perspective on it.

“Before I came here, I did not think in the terms of male and female. I just was. I was me, my dyad, and all that I had experienced. I was barely aware that there were two forms of consciousness. For me there was only one, and that was the one I expressed and the path, choices and options that led to for me. Then I got this mission granted and I took it to explore more of myself and develop more capacity to grow. It was a conscious choice of progression. It would assist me to progress further. So, I said yes. Working within the framework of a specific type of energies and their cycles, i.e. the 4th to 6th cycles, as well as within the limitations of the male consciousness as it is expressed in this system, is a huge challenge for me. I struggle to adapt to it and it appears to be easier for Miriam to adapt with her female consciousness structure. She knows how to use it in a better way due to her unity energy and wisdom whereas my heart and brain fields work in a different way. My brain field tends to spread out, diverse what I try to grasp, divide what I try to unify and at the same time forces me to move, develop and create with the diversity. It is like a force that pushes me forward and I can barely control it or get a grip of its dynamics. And it appears to me that I all the time scatter what we try to build up,” Joshua said.

“So, in a way you could say that you break down, or scatter what she builds?” I tried to grasp the implications of what he had said to me.

“No, it is like a breath of dynamics between unity and diversity, meet up and spilt apart. Retract, contract and extract. These are forces of this system. Unity-diversity. Wisdom-knowledge. The last pair; wisdom and knowledge go with the ability to work with details in energy in full knowledge. Knowledge is the understanding of how to use the energies in the correct way in a world. Wisdom defines the energies, whereas knowledge puts this into work and creation,” was his response to my question.

“This means,” I said, “that the females of our system are to learn the wisdom-unity of their core being, and the males have to learn knowledge-diversity, right?”

“Yes,” Joshua replied.

“And that the female is to learn to work with the different ways the male consciousness expresses itself to progress fully and in completion, as well as the male is to learn to work with the different ways of the female consciousness expresses itself to progress fully and in completion of his work here?” I asked.

“Correct,” was I answer I got from him.

“So, the role for us in this world is not to figure out how the partner, we team up with, works but to figure out how we respond correctly to him or her, and how we progress in the energy he or she represents to us, to complete us, and vice versa?”

“Males and females in this world, as a couple are to learn to mirror the differences in the energies and the outcome these bring about in the joint progression work. Without losing the perspective of your sovereignly and inner beingness, you both hold because aside from the ways this universal system forces us into male and female forms of consciousness, is not what we entirely are. We were something else before we came here and that will influence the ways our male and female consciousness expresses itself.”
